

They Walked A Mile In Her Shoes

October 18, 2010

Men strapped on their high heels, and then they walked.

For a mile.

In her shoes.

Sunday's Walk A Mile In Her Shoes event, held down at the lakeshore, was organized by the Women and Children's Shelter of Barrie.

Money raised through the event went towards the shelter's many efforts, as well as raising awareness of domestic violence.

It marked the first time the event has been held, and scores of participants came out to show their support by strutting the catwalk — otherwise known as the path along Centennial Park.
